THE ODD FELLOWS RECEPTION OF THEIR GRAND SIBE.—The Grand Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, which commenced its annual spring session on Tuesday, was honored yesterday by the presence of James P. Sanders, the most Worthy Grand Sire of the Grand Lodge of the United States. That officer visited the officer visited the jurisdiction in answer to its especial invitation. He was received in this especial invitation. He was received in this city on Tuesday afternoon, Francis M. Rea, John B. Springer, Samuel N. Foster, John Harland, Smith Skinner, William Morslander, Washington Reifsnyder, John W. Stokes, and John S. Heiss, in conjunction with the officers John S. Heiss, in conjunction with the officers of the Grand Lodge, Grand Master George Fing, Grand Secretary William Curtis, and Grand Treasurer M. Hichards Muckle, received the Grand Sire on behalf of the Pennsylvania Odd Fellows, Quarters were provided for him at the Continental Hotel, and yesterday afternoon he was conducted to the Grand Lodge, where he was introduced and received by the representatives present. sentatives present.

Early in the evening a more social reception was given at the National Guards' Hall. There were four tables arranged parallel in the banqueting room, with officers' tables at the head. At the head of the principal table sat Richard Watson, of Doylestown, the Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania. The other tables were presided over by Maurice Finn, Grand Senior Warden of the Grand Encampment; George Fling, Past Grand Master; Ellas Wild-man, Past Grand Master; and John B. Springer, Past Grand Pattiarch of the Grand Encamp-ment. By the side of Grand Master Watson were Grand Sire Sunders and Past Grand Master Lamberton, of Pennsylvania. Seated at the same table were Representatives Miller and Douglass, of New Jersey; Representative Todd, of Tennessee; Past Grand Sire James B. Nicholson, of Pennsylvania; John W. Stokes, Past Grand Master, and Past Grand Master Washburn; Henry Simons, Grand Treasurer of the Grand Encampment of Pennsylvania; Henry W. Surriner, Grand Junior Warden of the Grand Lodge; Grand Senior Deputy Grand Master Long; Grand Treasurer Muckle, and a number of the Grand Control of ter Long; Grand Treasurer Muckle, and a number of other eminent members of the Order.

Representatives from six hundred lodges, covering a membership of sixty thousand, participated in the reception. The occasion was one a parallel for which was never seen in this When the entertainment was at its height, there were nearly six hundred repre-sentatives seated at the tables. The cloth was cleared at an early hour, and other features introduced.

Grand Master Watson opened the ball for the social entertainment by announcing the first toast. It was:-

"The Grand Lodge of the United States." To this Grand Sire Sanders responded:-Greeted with enthusiastic applause, he thanked the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania for the warm reception which he, as the representative of the sovereign authority of the Union, had received. He referred to the work of the Order in the States and Territories. Looking around at the great body assembled around the board, he asked, Whence came they? Within his memory there were not as many members in the Order to Demonstrate the content of the order to be supported to the content of the content o in Pennsylvania as were then seated before him. The grain of mustard-seed, sown in faith and charity, had grown to a mighty tree. The bandful of men who founded the Order in the city of Baltimore have increased over 200,000. And when the war ended, and the Grand Lodge of the United States and of the United States met, representatives were present from every State and Territory in the Union. (Wild applause.) There was no need of reconstruction for the Order of Odd Fellows. (Renewed applause.) When the war raged, and the Southern jurisdictions were removed from the Union their seat were removed. the Union, their seats were not declared vacant in the Grand Lodge, but were lett for the missing representatives whenever they chose to return to their mother Grand Lodge. (Great

In every town and hamlet the increase of Odd-Fellowship is marked. From East to West, from North to South, the work spreads, binding men together in one great brotherhood, and knitting in fraternity and love the great masses of the people of the Union. Where will this work stop? Only when the Order of Odd-Fellowship has unfolded its banners wide over the world, and all mankind are knit in the bonds of universal brotherhood. versal brotherhood.

Grand Sire Sanders then gave as a toast-"The Grand Lodge and the Grand Encampment of Pennsylvania, bright jewels in the crown of Odd Fellowship—may their lustre never be dimmed, but may they grow together brighter and brighter unto the perfect day."

Grand Master Watson responded for the Grand Lodge. Around the social board, he said, were the representatives of the lodges of this State, the officers, the captains of hundreds and fifties who are moving on in the great duties of Odd Fellowship. They are live Odd Fellows. (Applause.) They are able-bodied and willing, ready to do any duty which Odd Fellowship enjoins, as they are to step to the table and take their rations. (Great laughter.) Pennsylvania, the Grand Master said, was indeed a bright star in the Order of Odd Fellowship. Remembering its sixty thousand members, he would claim that the State was rather the chief planet of the great system. (Renewed laughter.) Grand Master Watson offered the second regular toast, "Our Sister Grand Lodges," Representative Todd, of the Grand Lodge of Tennessee, replied. He said that in the jurisdiction of the Grand Lodge of the United States are forty-seven or forty-eight Grand Lodges. Their components are men whose emi-nence and rank in other stations in life have attested the worth of Gdd Fellowship. The origin of the Order was humble, but God always chooses the weak and feeble things of the earth to confound the mighty. From the little band who met in Baltimore forty years ago, has grown the mighty army whose banner is charity and whose mission is love.

The Grand Sire said that the Grand Lodge of the United States needed no reconstruction. We reconstruct ourselves. (Applause.) With the same barmony that marked the union of the representatives of the Grand Lodge of the Union, the whole Order moves on to-day. So will it move until the march ends in the Grand Lodge in Heaven.

To the third toast-"Our Sister Grand Encampments"—Representative Miller, of New Jersey, replied, and the other toasts followed. 4. The memory of Thomas Wildey. Drank in

9. The young members of our order. May they appreciate the beauties of Odd Fellowship, and be governed by its precepts.

To this M. Richards Muckle, Grand Treasurer,

This completed the regular toasts, but volunteer sentiments followed, and in many cases the best given were some at the last of the feast. This was specially so when Past Grand Master Fling spoke. Among the others who addressed the Grand Lodge were John W. Stokes, Grand Representative to the Grand Lodge of the United States; District Deputy Grand Master Zell, of Reading; Past Grand Patriarch Rea, and Grand Treasurer Henry Simons. The entertainment closed at a late hour.

SERIOUS STABBING AFFRAY .- William Rein, a colored man, residing in St. Mary street, was admitted into the Pennsylvania Hospital late on Tuesday night, with four frightful stabs in the head, which were said to have been indicted by a woman with whom Rein was living, the result of a quarrel.

THE REAL WAY TO SELECT

PROTESTART EPISCOPAL MUSICONARY MERTING. - Last evening a meeting, having in view the furtherance of the mission cause of the Protestant Episcopal Church, was held at St. Andrew's Church, on Eighth street, above Spruce. Addresses were delivered upon the condition of the missions throughout the country. From the eighth annual report of the Board of Missions of this Church, in the Diocess of Pennsylvania. this Church in the Diocese of Pennsylvania, which will be made to the Convention now in session, we learn that the sessions of the Board during the past year were characterized by even more than ordinary interest. The attendance has been large, the meetings often protracted, and the whole missionary work and plans for its prosecution thoroughly discussed. Agreeably to a recommendation of the Convention, the Board sought without delay to send into the vast and uncared-for portions of the Diocese itinerant Evangelists, both to explore and to preach the Word.

preach the Word.

During the year three of the stations of the Board have become self-supporting:—1st, Grace Church, Allentown, long fostered by the care of the Rev. Mr. Potter, under whom it was organized about four years since. A beautiful church and a flourishing congregation testify to the success of his labors, 2d, 8t, Paul's Church, White Haven. This mission was under the care White Haven. This mission was under the care of the Rev. Peter Russell until a few months ago, when it was transferred to the charge of the Rev. Mr. Coleman, of Mauch Chunk. It is reported in a most flourishing condition.

reported in a most flourishing condition. The average attendance at church it as large as in any Episcopal church in the whole Lehigh region, 3d, St. James' Church, Eckley. The parish is and has been for many years, under the care of Rev. Peter Russell.

The Board reports also that during the year seven new points have been occupied. In Schuylkill county, Ashland, Pine Grove, and Trement; in Tioga county, Morris Run and Fall Brook: in Chester county, West Vincent; in Clinton county, Renovo; in Lehigh county, Atlentown Farnace; and in Montgomery county, Gwynedd.

Gwynedd.
In closing this account of its labors the Board pledges itself to work quite up to the measure of pecuniary ability which the Church by it contributions gives it.
